Definitions

"Text and Data Mining" ("TDM") means performing automated searches, selection of content, and structured analyses of subscribed Content including data embodied therein, the sorting, parsing, addition or removal of linguistic structures, and the selection and inclusion of discrete parts of subscribed Content into another form for purposes of classification or recognition of relations, patterns, and associations, the extraction, alternative representation or translation, expression or discussion of any extracts from mined subscribed Content, whether in the form of a direct extraction or a representation in any form.

"TDM Materials" the materials, data and information created for or during the Text and Datamining, who are based on the subscribed Content.

"TDM Output" means the data and information which is the result of any Text and Data Mining, however excluding any verbatim duplication of the subscribed Content in whole or in part, except for de minimis uses.

For the avoidance of doubt, "subscribed Content" as used in this Product Term shall have the meaning of "Content" as defined in the General Terms and Conditions.

For the avoidance of doubt, "Springer" as used in this Product Term shall have the meaning of "Licensor" as defined in the General Terms and Conditions.

For the avoidance of doubt, and solely for the purpose of interpretation of the TDM License as described below, "non-commercial" shall not be interpreted to exclude research or purposes funded in part by for-profit entities. Nothing in the language of Sections 1 and 2 of the TDM License shall be interpreted to inhibit any limitation or exception as provided by US copyright law, (17 U.S.C. § 101, et seq.).

1. TDM License

Springer hereby grants Licensee and its Authorized Users with respect to the total of the subscribed Content under the License Agreement, without additional license fees, in the course and for the purpose of non-commercial personal and educational research, the following rights:

(a) downloading (including automated downloading), or extracting information from the subscribed Content to which the Licensee has access under this License Agreement for the purpose of TDM to an internally facing server of Licensee, and perform Text and Data Mining on such subscribed Content, and/or Information extracted from the subscribed Content. Where required, mount, load and integrate copies of the subscribed Content or TDM Materials on an internally facing server used for the Licensee's TDM system to evaluate and interpret the subscribed Content and the TDM Materials for access and use by Authorized Users.

(b) internally storing electronic copies of the subscribed Content and the TDM Materials to the extent necessary to ensure efficient use by Authorized Users in connection with their work on a TDM project.

(c) making the TDM Output, and conclusions and subsequent scholarly works based on the TDM Output available on an externally facing server or website.

2. Prohibited uses relating to subscribed Content and TDM Output

The prohibited uses with respect to the subscribed Content as per Section 3 of the General Terms and Conditions shall apply accordingly to the TDM Materials, provided that TDM Materials may not be shared with third parties and shall be stored in Licensee's TDM system only.

Except as provided in Section 1, in case of TDM at Springer's site: the use of any robots, spiders, crawlers or other automated downloading programs, algorithms or devices to continuously and automatically search, scrape, extract, deep link, index to an extent likely to disrupt the working of Springer's websites is prohibited.
however, for the avoidance of doubt, one request per second is not deemed likely to disrupt the working of Springer’s websites.

Unless otherwise expressly allowed under Section 1 of this TDM License, the Licensee and its Authorized Users may not (i) create derivative products or services that would compete with or negatively affect Springer or Springer’s affiliates products or services, or otherwise commercially use or allow commercial use of the TDM Output, and (ii) will use reasonable best efforts to prevent a third party from gaining access or using any TDM Materials.

This Section 2 shall remain effective and survive termination of this License Agreement, howsoever arising.

3. Security, Grant of Access Rights, Formats and Delivery Mechanisms

(a) Without limiting Licensee’s obligations under the License Agreement, Licensee shall make reasonable efforts to ensure compliance with Springer’s reasonable instructions regarding security and technical access requirements, and to inform its Authorized Users that they are required to do so. TDM may be undertaken on either locally loaded subscribed Content or other available source as agreed by both parties.

(b) Licensee shall implement and maintain adequate and effective state of the art data security systems and measures, in line with international industry standards and Licensee’s peers’ best practices.

(c) In the event the Licensee collects or otherwise processes or uses personal data, such usage may be subject to applicable data protection laws. This TDM License does not grant Licensee rights in personal data.

(d) Springer does not give any warranty or assurance as to the suitability or availability of Springer’s electronic servers and systems for carrying out TDM or extracting TDM Output, nor as to the completeness or accuracy of any downloaded materials.

4. Breach and Termination

(a) Breach: In addition to, and without prejudice to any contractual rights and/or remedies under the applicable law, Springer shall retain the right to deny access to any subscribed Content where the Licensee or its Authorized Users are in breach of any of the conditions of this TDM License. Where Licensee or Authorized Users have made available any subscribed Content being part of TDM output, or have made any resulting TDM Output available to third parties (except as provided for above), and does not remedy such breach within 30 calendar days upon notification by Springer, Springer shall be entitled to terminate rights granted under Section 1 of this TDM License.

(b) Removal of locally-loaded copies of subscribed Content downloaded for TDM or TDM Materials: Unless retention of subscribed Content is otherwise permitted under the License Agreement, upon termination of the TDM License under clause 4 (a) above or, upon expiration of the license grant with respect to the subscribed Content, or upon termination for cause of the entire License Agreement, howsoever arising, the Licensee shall procure the destruction of any copies of the subscribed Content or TDM Materials if locally loaded. Upon Springer’s request, no later than 30 days after termination shall provide a statement of destruction signed by an authorized officer of the Licensee.

Save as set out herein the License Agreement shall remain in full force and effect and the terms of the License Agreement shall apply to TDM and TDM Output as set out herein as if it were included in the License Agreement from the date thereof.