Confirm research funders

We need to know whether you received any research funding to produce this article. If you did, your funders may have specific requirements that we need to reflect in your author publishing agreement.

Did you receive any research funding for this article?

- Yes
- No

Please add your funders until the list below is complete. Start typing your funder's name, and you'll find suggestions for common funders. If yours isn't there, type the complete name and add it.

Choose Open Access

Your organization has an Open Access agreement with us and would like you to use this funding. This is a standard process with no cost to yourself. If your organization is unable to approve, you will have the opportunity to publish with a standard license agreement, or choose to fund the Open Access yourself.

Learn more about Open Access agreements

Please only select other funding if the organization below is not covering these costs.

Have we got the wrong organization? Request changes

Would you like to publish this article Open Access?

- I’d like to use the Test Education Ltd Open Access agreement
- I have other funds for Open Access I am required to use
- I do not want to publish Open Access

If you choose this option, we will ask your institution if they will fund Open Access publication of your article.

If they cannot provide funding for Open Access, we will let you know via email, and you can choose to fund it yourself or publish it as an article with subscription-based access.
Confirm who owns your article's copyright

We need to know who owns the copyright of your article so that we can accurately reflect that ownership in your authorship agreement.

Many times, scholars working on original research own the copyright for their written works, but not always. If you produced this article as work-for-hire or as a government employee, for example, you may not own the copyright.

Please tell us about the copyright ownership of your article.

- I own copyright if I have co-authors, we jointly own copyright and I am acting on our behalf.
- I am an employee of the UK, Canadian, Australian, or other Commonwealth Realm Government, and the Crown retains and asserts copyright.
- I am a US Government (including NIH) employee and there is no copyright to transfer.
- I am a contractor of the US Government (includes NIH contractors).
- I am an employee of the European Commission and copyright is asserted and retained by the European Union.
- I am employed and the copyright belongs to my employer or is a work made for hire.
- I am an employee of a Government, Agency, or International Organization and copyright is retained by that entity.

Your paper will be made freely available online at the point of publication, permanently, for anyone to read (Gold Open Access).

Open Access articles are free to read but acceptable reuse is determined by the type of Creative Commons license associated with the article. Your choice will be included in your agreement and noted in your published article.

Select license type

- CC-BY
- CC-BY-NC-ND

Read more about this license

You have two options of agreement for Open Select publishing with Taylor & Francis/Routledge.

- Creative Commons Attribution (CC BY): Others may distribute, remix, tweak and build upon your work, even commercially, as long as they credit you for the original creation. This license is required by certain funding bodies. The author is asked to grant Taylor & Francis the right to publish her or his article as the final definitive and citable Version of Scholarly Record. Reuse conditions will be subject to the license type chosen by the author.

- Creative Commons Attribution-NonCommercial-NoDerivs (CC BY-NC-ND): Under this license others may download your works and share them with others as long as they credit you, but they can’t change them in any way or use them commercially. The license also allows for text- and data-mining of your works. This license is offered to authors publishing on an open-access basis in an Open Select journal.
